

PREFACE

This first edition of Subclasses KI-KIL, Law of Indigenous Peoples, was published in 2017. Subclasses KIA-KIK, Law of Indigenous Peoples in the Americas, specifically Canada and the United States, were released in 2016. Following that in quick succession Subclass KIL, Indigenous Law of Mexico, and Subclass KI, Law of Indigenous Peoples, were released in 2017. The first combined edition of all of the subclasses KI-KIL was issued in 2018. This 2019 edition cumulates all changes made from the 2018 edition.

Subclass KI was developed to accommodate international indigenous law, including United Nations and OAS declarations such as the Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples (UN) and the American Declaration on Rights of Indigenous Peoples (OAS), international organizations (IGOs and NGOs), international treaties, and international legal concepts and principles regarding indigenous peoples.

Access to the online version of the full Library of Congress Classification is available on the World Wide Web by subscription to Classification Web. Details about ordering and pricing may be obtained from the Cataloging Distribution Service at

New or revised numbers and captions are added to the LC Classification schedules as a result of development proposals made by the cataloging staff of the Library of Congress and cooperating institutions. Upon approval of these proposals by the editorial meeting of the Policy and Standards Division, new classification records are created or existing records are revised in the master classification database. Lists of newly approved or revised classification numbers and captions are posted on the World Wide Web at Jolande Goldberg, law classification specialist in the Policy and Standards Division, and Libby Dechman, senior cataloging policy specialist, are responsible for coordinating the overall intellectual and editorial content of class K and its various subclasses. Kent Griffiths, assistant editor, creates new classification records and their associated index terms, and maintains the master database.

Beacher Wiggins, Acting Chief
Policy and Standards Division
